DIGITAL MARKETING TRACK - TASK REPORT

Create a Blog Content Plan

One-month SEO-driven blog strategy for BrewNest Coffee | Prepared by Reddi Malli Nandini | October 2026

1. Objective

Develop a one-month blog strategy for a business using keyword research and audience pain points, and learn how SEO and content strategy work together: keyword research tells us what people search for, pain points tell us why they search, and the content plan decides what we publish, when, and with what goal.

2. Business and Target Audience

Business: A (fictional) direct-to-consumer specialty coffee brand based in Hyderabad that sells freshly roasted Indian single-origin beans, South Indian filter-coffee blends, brewing gear and a monthly subscription online.

Audience: Urban Indians aged 22-40 (students, young professionals, work-from-home folks) who drink instant coffee or cafe coffee and want to make better coffee at home without spending a lot.

3. Tools Used

Tool	How it was used
Google Keyword Planner	'Discover new keywords' with seeds (filter coffee, coffee beans, coffee maker, black coffee). Location: India, Language: English. Recorded average monthly search range and competition; picked one primary keyword and 3 secondary keywords per topic.
Google Trends	Checked 12-month interest in India for each primary keyword to spot seasonality (e.g. buying/gifting queries peak Oct-Jan, 'black coffee benefits' rising) and to schedule decision-stage posts before Diwali/December demand.
Google Sheets	Built the content calendar: topic, keyword, intent, title, objective, CTA, status dropdown and a funnel summary tab with COUNTIF/SUMIF formulas.

4. Methodology

Step 1 - Define the business and audience: who buys, what they currently drink, what stops them from buying.

Step 2 - List pain points: gathered from common questions on Google 'People also ask', Reddit/Quora coffee threads and product reviews.

Step 3 - Keyword research: turned each pain point into seed keywords, expanded them in Keyword Planner, and kept keywords with useful volume and clear relevance to the product.

Step 4 - Classify search intent: Informational (learn), Commercial investigation (compare), Transactional (buy) - checked by looking at what currently ranks on page 1.

Step 5 - Map to the customer journey: Awareness -> Consideration -> Decision -> Retention, so readers can move from a 'why is my coffee bitter' search to a subscription.

Step 6 - Schedule: 10 posts across November 2026 (2-3 per week); awareness first to build traffic, decision content in the last two weeks ahead of December gifting demand.

5. Audience Pain Points

Pain point	Detail	Posts that solve it
Home coffee tastes bitter or flat	Bitterness/sourness from wrong grind, water temperature or stale beans	#1, #2
Confused by bean types and roasts	Arabica vs Robusta, light vs dark roast, chicory or no chicory	#3, #5
Don't know which equipment to buy	French press, pour-over, moka pot or South Indian filter - which one suits them	#6
Cafe coffee is expensive daily	Rs 250+ per cup adds up; want cafe quality at home	#4, #7, #9
Unsure if buying beans online is worth it	Freshness, roast date, delivery time, trust in new brands	#8
Beans go stale quickly	Don't know how to store coffee or how long it lasts	#10

7. Customer Journey Coverage

Stage	Posts	Share	Purpose
Awareness	4	40%	Bring new readers in through problems and questions
Consideration	3	30%	Help them compare options and products
Decision	2	20%	Remove doubts and get the first order
Retention	1	10%	Keep customers and drive repeat orders

8. Internal Linking and Promotion

Awareness posts link to the matching consideration post (e.g. #2 'Why is my coffee bitter' -> #6 brewer comparison), and every consideration post links to a decision post (#8 or #9). Each post is repurposed into one LinkedIn/Instagram carousel and one newsletter section. Post #10 is sent automatically to customers 5 days after delivery.

9. KPIs to Track

Organic sessions and impressions (Google Search Console), average position for each target keyword, newsletter sign-ups from awareness posts, click-through rate on CTAs, and orders/subscriptions attributed to decision posts (GA4 conversions).

10. Key Learnings: How SEO and Content Strategy Work Together

- Keywords without pain points produce generic content; pain points without keywords produce content nobody finds. The plan needs both.
- Search intent decides the format: a 'how to' keyword needs a guide, a 'vs' keyword needs a comparison, a 'buy' keyword needs a trust-building checklist.
- Mapping topics to the customer journey turns a list of blogs into a path that ends in a sale or subscription.
- Google Trends adds timing: publishing buying-intent content before seasonal peaks helps capture demand when it's highest.
- A sheet with status, CTA and objective columns makes the strategy measurable and easy to hand over to writers.

11. Conclusion

This plan gives BrewNest Coffee 10 SEO-targeted posts for November 2026 that cover every stage of the customer journey, each with a clear keyword, intent, title, objective and call-to-action - ready to hand to writers and track in Google Sheets.
